

Pure Milk Association to Meet in Chicago March 20

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

Beating Bolshevism

In Washington the politicians are scurrying around seeking ways to ward off the growing communistic control of a part of the world. They are, also, trying to bolster up the national economy with a view to preventing a "recession." But, ahead of these two items, important as they are, the political society is trying to get reelected, individually and as parties. Naturally important things are taking second place to worth-while and necessary actions.

One Good Way

There is one good way to help the national economy and put the quietus on the Russian world-control program. It is simple. It is easy. But it gets little attention from men who should be anxious to do something except run around the mulberry bed of politics, trying to scare up a version of outmoded things that might be a temporary economic palliative. The United States has the power to set up a world standard of wages and enforce it that would put China on its economic feet and force Russia into sensible economic cooperation with the rest of the world instead of trying to crush the world under the morally laden feet of Sovietism.

Must Be Quick

Whatever is done to head off the Russians without war must be done quickly and intelligently. The alternative is a war costly in lives and in destructiveness. Every factory in the United States and other countries would run constantly, with labor shortage the only drawback, if the United States, using its prestige and economic power, would insist upon ALL the workers having wages comparable to wages in our country, upon pain of not being allowed to deal with other nations.

Labor Unions Slow

Labor unions throughout the world should be back of such a plan, since hundreds of thousands of millions of people everywhere, having become acquainted with luxuries and conveniences as a result of the war, would, with wages equal to our own, spend and spend of their earned funds to acquire the "goodies" of life unknown to them before Yanks got into all the corners of the globe during the recent war.

Farmers Would Profit

Farmers would profit—would profit on a large scale. Mexico, to the south of us, has millions of people who never have enough to eat. The exchange rate is so high they cannot afford to buy things from the United States they both need and want. By an outmoded money pattern these and other millions are deprived of enough food and raiment, to say nothing of the extras wanted by everyone who knows merely average good living.

During the period of alteration church services are continuing as usual in the basement of the church. It is expected the work will be completed in time so Easter services can be held in the auditorium.

CELEBRATIONS WHERE 'BIRTHDAY' NEVER TELLS THE WHOLE STORY

August Hauck of Mokena celebrated his 17th birthday in his home Sunday, February 29. Because Mr. Hauck, who is in reality 68, is ill with heart disease, the celebration was a quiet affair. Present were his son, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hauck and family of Blue Island, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Christianson, and family, of Frankfort, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cappel of Mokena. Mr. Hauck enjoyed the many cards which were sent to him.

A family gathering in the Harold Ebert home in Frankfort was held Sunday evening. Although Mr. Ebert is 40, this was his 10th birthday, because he was born on February 29. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Lorenzen, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ebert and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ebert, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ebert, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ebert. A large birthday cake with 10 candles centered the dining table, from which refreshments were served. Later pinocle was played.

Twenty-five hundred dairy farmer members of Pure Milk association, are expected to attend the annual meeting of their association at the Sherman hotel, Chicago, Saturday, March 20.

This is the 23rd annual meeting of the organization, which represents some 14,000 dairy farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 9:45 A. M. by Wilbur J. Sawyer, Gurnee, president of the organization.

Reports on activities and progress of the organization during 1947 will be presented by President Sawyer; W. E. Winn, Richmond, treasurer; R. P. Alexander, Chicago, comptroller; F. J. Knox, Waukegan, director of sales; and C. M. Cosgrove, Elgin, secretary.

John Brandt, president of Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., of Minneapolis, Minn., will speak on "What's Ahead for Dairying."

A. W. Colebank, federal milk market administrator, will address the meeting on the progress of the federal milk marketing order in the Chicago milk shed. The Chicago milk shed has been under federal order for over eight years, and he will tell the association members some of the problems facing his organization in the administration of the order.

Lunch will be served to all members, their wives, and guests present in the various ballrooms of the Sherman hotel promptly at 12 o'clock.

A. H. Lauterbach, general manager of Pure Milk association, will give the manager's report in the afternoon and will discuss with the members the problems that lie ahead for Pure Milk Association. Mr. Lauterbach has been manager of the organization for 10 years.

Election of directors will be held during the meeting. There are 18 directors. Charles Erickson, Mokena, is the only member from Semmler Newspaperland area.

4-H RALLY IS SET FOR SATURDAY

A drive to enroll new members is to begin, and the goal is 450 members for home economics clubs and 320 members for agricultural clubs.

The program for the evening will include a skit by Barbara Bray and Erwin Goodwin from Wilmington, and a short talk by Kenneth Anderson, associate director of the national committee on boys' and girls' 4-H club work for Chicago. Movies will be shown including cartoons, and group singing will be led by Donald Hunter of Frankfort. Dorothy Kohl will entertain with a piano solo and recreation has been planned.

The committee in charge of the rally is Jean Phillips and Barbara Bray, co-chairmen from Wilmington; Dave Vial, Custer Park; Leonard Brands, Beecher; LeEtha Rakoski, Wilmington; and Vernon Lankenau, Peotone.

Surviving are her husband Ednor; two daughters, Mrs. James Sherwood (Irene) of New Lenox, and Mrs. Wilson Cornforth (Evangeline) of Chicago; and six grandchildren. She was a sister of the late Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Mrs. Elizabeth Newcomb, John and Peter McHale. Funeral services were held at the Western Funeral parlors Monday morning to St. Jude's church, New Lenox. Interment was at Mount Olivet cemetery in Joliet.

Exploding Bottle Injures Woman

Heating water on the stove Thursday morning of last week in an old-fashioned metal hot water bottle, Miss Hannah Schacht of Mokena, suffered serious cuts about the face when the bottle exploded.

The bottle was of seamed metal and the top was screwed on at the time of the accident. Evidently the water had begun to boil and the stem pressure built up enough force to blow the bottle to bits.

The flying pieces of metal were hurled into Miss Schacht's face. She was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital by Dr. M. J. Buckley of Frankfort, where it was necessary to take 24 stitches to close the wounds. After being treated, Miss Schacht was released from the hospital.

Said to Have Held Up Many Places

Two young men accused of a hold-up in Tinley Park, followed by the kidnapping of a state policeman, Wednesday of last week were captured in Forest Park last Friday after a chase directed by radio.

The hold-up occurred at the Village Lodge tavern, 159th street and Harlem avenue, where it was stated the robbers took money and valuables worth $1,000. Seizing a Rosetti Cleaner delivery truck as they left the tavern, the men abandoned this a short distance away to take a car driven by Lester Riccio, 163d street and Central avenue, Tinley Park.

A breakdown of the truck caused the men to stop at a farm house to telephone for a wrecker, but before they had accomplished this, State Patrolman Paul W. Chandler of the Blue Island station arrived and asked the men for their licenses. The officer narrowly missed death when one of the men pointed a gun at his head and pulled the trigger several times, the gun failing to fire.

The men, taking the officer's revolver, forced him into the Riccio car and started in the direction of Lockport. After traveling a short distance, the men forced the other occupants of the car out and made their temporary escape.

State Police Captain William Morris said the men are believed to have taken part in about 20 recent robberies of taverns and gasoline stations in suburban areas.

The capture was made when a squad car from River Forest radioed to headquarters that the car was following it, suspects south on Harlem avenue from North avenue. The officers were instructed to follow until River Forest and Oak Park squads joined the first car. Later, when the three squad cars met, the fugitives' car was forced to the curb with shotguns covering them before they could use the .38 revolver found in their car.

SCIENCE IN SURGERY

Complicated Device Photographs Perfect Camera—The Human Eye

Most people understand how the X-ray is used by the medical profession, and many have heard that photography is being used in the medical field. However, it is difficult for the average person to visualize just how photography can be used to advantage in medicine.

A visit to the New York Eye and Ear infirmary, the oldest specialized hospital in the western hemisphere, where people from all walks of life have been treated for more than a century in its numerous eye, ear, nose and throat clinics demonstrates the value of the technique. This hospital is staffed by the great and near-great in the fields of ophthalmology and otolaryngology. Surgeons with Park avenue practices come daily to diagnose and treat the 35,000 people who pass through its clinics each year.

Here medical photography has become a recognized and established service in the treatment of many eye diseases.

Explains Techniques.

This department was organized and is run by Mary R. Brown, one of the few women in this country who specialize in the field of ophthalmic photography. She is a pretty, quiet woman whose own son is just completing his medical education. Mrs. Brown explained some of the scientific techniques she uses daily in her diagnostic research and medical record work for surgeons at the New York Eye and Ear infirmary.

In addition to the small and delicate cameras that photograph the outer sections of the eye, there is the Fundus camera used for photographing the retina of the eye—the area deep within the eye itself. This complicated camera uses the lens of the patient's eye as part of its optical system and the resulting pictures are in color. They have great diagnostic value; the surgeon's decision depends many times on these true-to-life photographs.

Mrs. Brown relates that, "Only recently, a young lad who had his eye hurt playing basketball was brought into the hospital. A growth had formed on the retina and retinal pictures were ordered. These were airmailed to a famous eye specialist in England to corroborate our own surgeon's diagnosis. With nothing but these colored slides, magnified and thrown on a screen, he recommended preserving the eye, as our own men did. In time, the growth went away, just as the specialist said it would, and today this boy has his sight."

Recalls War Case.

"Back in November 1945," Mrs. Brown recalls, "a young G.I. bride,

HAVEN FOR AFFLICTED . . .

The New York Eye and Ear infirmary, where Mrs. Brown helps guide surgeon's hands and scalpel with her photographic technique, is the oldest hospital of its kind in the western hemisphere. Founded in 1820, it ranks as the first oldest hospital in the City of New York.

Oklahoma Boasts Self-Supporting Capitol

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.—One of Oklahoma's proudest boasts is that it has probably the only self-supporting state capitol in the world, one that even pays a bonus now and then.

While other states have to settle for the oratory, Oklahoma finds its coffers enriched by black gold. In the 13 years since the oil wells were drilled on the capitol grounds by order of E. W. Marland, former governor, the state has profited to the extent of $5,619,945. The wells were drilled over bitter protests from residents of the swank Lincoln Terrace neighborhood nearby. Drilling oil wells is about the messiest job ever, they contended, besides representing a fire hazard. They quoted a city zoning ordinance to show Marland couldn't do it. The governor said he'd like to see someone stop him.

Although the railroad has long been inoperative, it derives a regular income from lease of its original right-of-way to the New York Central railroad. The present dividend amounts to $9,000 after deductions for taxes and expenses. Last year the E. and K. paid $19,500 in dividends.

Incorporated by the Michigan territorial legislature on April 22, 1833, the E. and K. was capitalized for $1,000,000 but only $300,000 in stock was issued.

It originally was authorized to operate between Lake Erie and "the navigable waters of the Kalamazoo river," but it was destined to run only between Port Lawrence (now Toledo, Ohio, but then part of Michigan) and Adrian, a distance of 35 miles.

By 1836 track had been laid from Port Lawrence to Adrian and the first horse-drawn train clattered over the wooden rails in October.

Now forgotten by all except historians and its fourth and fifth generation stockholders, the Erie and Kalamazoo ranked as the oldest railroad west of Schenectady, N. Y.

The Personal Witness

Lesson for March 7, 1948

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER, described by Hermann Hagedorn as "Prophet in the Wilderness," is a living example of what Sunday's lesson is undertaking to portray, namely, living for Jesus where you are. Schweitzer, at 72, is described by Hagedorn as one who "burns like Francis of Assisi, and looks like Josef Stalin." But to the people of Equatorial Africa, he looks and acts like our Saviour Jesus did.

The lesson passage is found in Acts 8:26-39, and is the story of Philip, leaving his very successful evangelistic campaign in Samaria to follow the lead of the Holy Spirit into the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is desert. There he found a man in search of God, and through his witness the man was saved.

THE STORY OF JESUS

THIS man was not of Philip's race. He was an Ethiopian. But he was a man. And God loves every man of every race and of every condition of life. Jesus never did meet an unimportant person, nor will any true follower of his. Jesus said, "As the Father has sent Me, even so send I you," John 20:21.

This man was reading in the Book of Isaiah, where the prophet was foretelling how Jesus would suffer for the sins of the whole world. He could not understand the wonderful words. And the Spirit directed Philip to go and join himself to the eunuch. Philip ran to the chariot in which the rich man rode, asking, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" He was quick to give his witness. That is the first lesson of the lesson.

AND THE MAN LISTENED

WHEN we faithfully obey the Holy Spirit, he enables us to effectively witness for Jesus. We cannot be effective witnesses if we rely upon our own wisdom and our own judgment. The boy in your street who does not know Jesus will listen to your story if you go in the same glad obedience to the command of the Spirit of God as did Philip.

A lad told me this story. He had a neighbor who had never been to Sunday school, and he wanted to enlist this friend. He thought about it seriously. But he was not quite sure of himself. And then he prayed, asking God to direct him. The next day the boy asked him, "What are you doing Sunday morning?" With this opening the lad invited his neighbor to come along with him, and the result was that the little neighbor, of another race, accepted Christ as his Saviour and is today a regular attendant at church and Sunday school.

TO WHOM SHALL WE WITNESS?

THE question now emerges, To whom shall we bear this witness? We cannot all go as missionaries, as did Dr. Schweitzer. Most of us must remain at home and carry on the work of our everyday pursuits of life.

But every Christian can witness. First, to those immediately about us. In every community in our beloved country are people who do not know Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord. We can witness to them, not to all of them, but to some of them, perhaps to one of them. And I would remind you that if you miss that particular person to whom you may be directed by the Holy Spirit, he or she may never know about the Saviour's love.

Second, we can share in the sending of the missionaries to earth's remotest bounds, through our gifts. I delight to think that I am in partnership with many great men and women on foreign fields, through my gifts and through my prayers.

Third, we can witness through personal correspondence with people in other lands. The present far-reaching media of relief for stricken peoples of the world affords a wonderful opportunity for this very witness. Ask your pastor for the name of some person your age in one of the lands to which your church is sending relief, and write that person a letter, telling of your joy in serving God.

The eunuch went on his way rejoicing. Why? Because Philip had taught him the way of salvation. He had been used as an effective witness in leading a man of another race to experience the peace that passeth all understanding.

And Jesus is saying to us today, "So send I you."

(Received too late for last week)
The Royal Neighbors met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Mae Parker. Since there had been no January meeting because of icy roads, the annual installation of officers took place at this time.
Gus Eklund and Mr. and Mrs. John Andean moved from the Messenger farm to their new home in Lockport township last week. Gus, who has lived on the same farm for 54 years, has played the part of "good neighbor" in a quiet way throughout that time, and we are glad that he and the Andeans are not going too far from this community.

The John Reiter family, who have purchased the former Messenger place, are moving to it this week.
Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehardt Krohn spent Saturday night in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker.
Mrs. Mary Meyers is ill with the flu.
Mr. and Mrs. Willard Rowley entertained at a family dinner Sunday in honor of the birthday of Harold Finley, their son-in-law.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell, with Shirley and Ray, visited her mother, Mrs. Bellmore, in Bourbonnais, Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. James Stanford entertained Mrs. Stanford's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sandage and children, Mumford, Tenn., several days last week.
Mr. and Mrs. John Dixon had as week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. E.

Wilke and son Melvin of Chicago. On Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph E. Humph of Chicago, who are Mrs. Dixon's parents, were visitors in the Dixon home.
In celebration of Mrs. Eugene Anderson's birthday, the Eugene and Bruce Anderson and the Ray Carlson and Joe Vancil families gathered in Mrs. Ira Anderson's home for cafeteria supper Sunday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ludwig of Le-mont were Sunday-evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker.
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Carlson accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Langman, Bill Messenger, and Jackie Carpenter, all of Joliet, and Raymond Clayton of Iowa, spent Saturday evening in Chicago. They visited a radio program.
A short business session was held following the morning service at Homer church, at which time it was voted to grant Owen Ott a lease on the parsonage for one year; the national merger with the Evangelical and Reformed church was discussed briefly, and it was decided not to sell a table and organ for which an offer had been made.

"BETTER METHODS"

Put Pork on a
Production-Line Basis

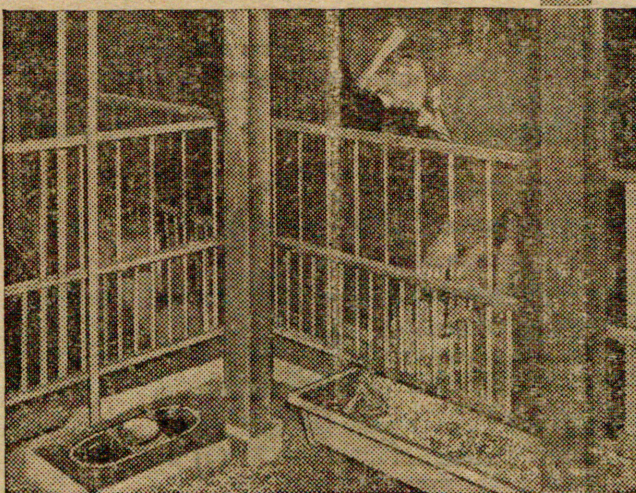

BECAUSE WE ARE no longer in the days of cheap corn and cheap labor, hog raising today is a revolutionized industry. The transition from piglet to a marketable porker requires efficient, time-studied production-line methods that manufacture more meat with less work and expense.

Money-making hog raisers are now scheduling their sows so they'll produce two litters per year... and they're using their electric brooders to save more pigs per litter. Hog barns are being designed for speedy handling and feeding... chore routes are shortened, and running water systems are doing the running. Emphasis is being placed on large purebred litters, faster gains, early marketing.

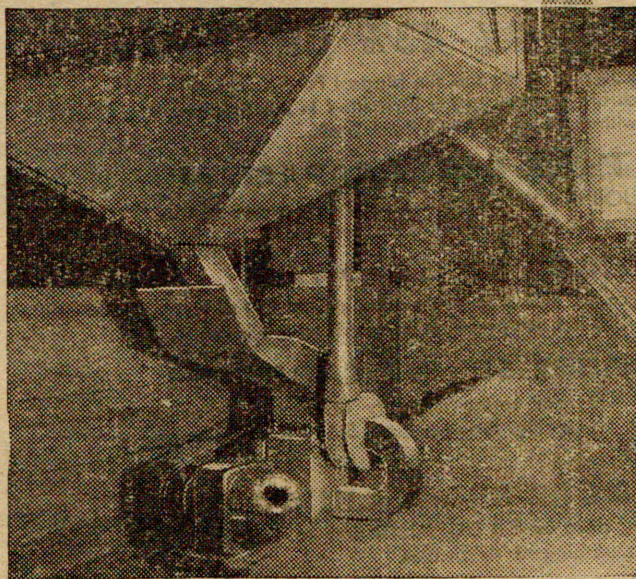

Where can you get the latest information on hog raising? From universities, authorities, magazines like FARM LIFE and hog raisers themselves. From our Agricultural Engineers who have a few "Better Methods" up their sleeves that will save you time, work, and money when it comes to feeding, watering, housing. Just phone or write today—you're welcome to their free services.

It Takes About 40 lbs. of Feed to produce a baby pig. Investments in feed, housing, labor are protected by life-saving brooders.

Good Equipment, properly placed, saves hundreds of hours. Running water, piped to hog houses and ranges, saves miles of steps.

Easier Feed Handling comes with overhead bins, gravity-fed mixers and grinders, portable feed houses, self-unloading wagons.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT TAXES?

(Editor's Note: This is a continuation of a series of articles prepared by the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.)

SPRINGFIELD.—Since about eight out of every 10 people in Illinois live in cities, villages, or incorporated towns, the cost of providing municipal services is an important part of most tax bills. The powers of a municipality to provide services and levy taxes are set forth in the statutes, except for municipalities that operate under special charters granted by the state.

Such expenses as police protection, fire department expenses, officials' salaries and expenses, maintenance of the city hall, and maintenance of the city jail are paid out of what is known as the corporate fund of the municipality. If the municipality in which you live has any outstanding bonds, your tax bill will include an amount for payment of interest and retirement of principal.

Your city, village, or town has the power by ordinance to provide for collection of garbage and ashes, to create pension funds for firemen and policemen, to establish a public library, and to levy a special tax for each of these purposes.

Your municipality may also, without referendum, levy a special tax for street and bridge purposes. However, if the township or road district in which the municipality lies in whole or in part levies a road and bridge tax, one-half of the road and bridge tax on the property within the municipality must be paid to the municipality by the township or road district, and the county clerk must reduce the tax levy of the municipality for street and bridge purposes by the amount of money received from the township or road district.

Municipalities with not less than 5,000 nor more than 100,000 inhabitants have the power, subject to a referendum, to levy a tax to purchase parks and boulevards.

Your municipality cannot levy a special tax to provide you with fire protection unless you are a voter in an election. The other residents of your municipality are not entitled to such service at other service. There are a number of cities which your municipality provides only if authorized by ordinance, such as: Municipal employees retirement fund to provide pensions for municipal employees other than policemen and firemen; a municipal band; a playground and recreation center; monuments and memorials; municipal hospital; a tuberculosis sanitarium; and a special tax may be levied for any of these purposes that are authorized by the people.

Municipalities with 15,000 or less inhabitants may, if authorized by referendum, levy an additional tax for cemetery reconditioning and restoration for any cemetery owned, managed, or controlled by the municipality.

If the voters approve by referendum, municipalities of less than 75,000 may levy a tax to establish a municipal coliseum, municipalities under 30,000 whose boundaries are the same as the township may levy a special tax for a stadium athletic field, and municipalities under 100,000 may levy a tax for public comfort stations.

The amount of your tax bill for municipal services is made up of the various taxes for the services that your municipality has by ordinance voted to provide or that you by referendum have authorized.

The fiscal year of municipalities generally begins on the third Tuesday in April. The municipality must adopt a budget within the first quarter of each fiscal year, but there is no provision for a public hearing on the municipal budget.

THE PORCUPINE

The following is a gulletin issued by the Cook County Forest Preserve conservation department.)

There are two animals that other wild animals don't bother. One is the skunk. The other is the porcupine, also called the "quilly pig" or "spiny hog." known to everybody in the north woods and the Rock Mountains as "Porky." Years ago, there were porcupines here in Cook county and in the forests of all the northern states.

Next to the beaver, the porcupine is the largest of all the rodents—the gnawing mammals. Sluggish, stupid, surly, and solitary, Porky has a bulky clumsy body, small blunt head, short legs, and a thick hide covered with black or brownish black fur, very dense and woolly, and long coarse glistening outer hairs tipped with yellowish white. On his sides and back, from the crown of his head to the end of his short thick tail, he is armored with long, whitish, black-tipped needle-pointed quills, loosely set in his skin.

When in danger, he puts his nose between his forelegs, turns his back, and raises his quills until he looks like a huge pincushion. If attacked he drives the attacker with whiplike slaps of his quills into the paws or face of the tail and rump. The quills are not poisonous and Porky cannot "shoot" them, as many believe. Tiny barbs on the tip of each quill, pointing backward, cause it to work deeper and deeper into the flesh, resulting in a festering sore, and sometimes death.

Porcupines are equipped for climbing by having feet with rough soles, long toes, and long sharp claws. In winter they live on the small twigs and badly damaged or killed by them. In summer they eat the buds and leaves of trees and shrubs, herbs, some aquatic plants, and wild fruits. They love tools used by sweaty hands. Unoccupied cabins and outbuildings are often badly damaged by their gnawing.

Porcupines are protected, by law or unwritten law, as being the one animal an unarmed starving man can easily kill. The meat is not a delicacy, but Indians eat them and use the quills for decoration. Otherwise, except the cougar and the fisher, a large member of the weasel family, now very rare, Porky has few enemies. And no close friends.

In electronic egg candling—reported almost 100 per cent accurate—the egg is placed in a coil lying in an electromagnetic field of radio frequency. The good eggs absorb the least power, the bad ones the most.

Swine Brucellosis Dangerous to Humans

Undulant fever in man may be caused by brucellosis in swine—a fact sometimes overlooked by workers in packing plants, butchers, farmers, stockmen, and others who are engaged in handling hogs or their meat.

Dead pigs, afterbirths, and uterine discharges of aborting sows should be handled with gloves, pitchforks, or shovels in order not to contaminate the hands. Dr. E. A. Woelffer, extension specialist, University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine, points out. Undulant fever does not seem to spread from man to man, he said.

Mason's Legislative Record

OUTSTANDING RECORD AS STATE SENATOR

As a member of the Illinois State Senate Mason's stand on measures affecting the Welfare of the People and touching the Pockethooks of the Tax Payers is indelibly written in the records of the Illinois Senate. On that Public Record and on his Record for outstanding Citizenship during the many years he has lived in LaSalle County, Mason ran for Congress 12 years ago and was elected.

MASON'S FARM RECORD

In 1936 - Simon E. Lantz, Farm Leader and State Senator, wrote:

"To the farmers of the 12th Congressional District: Senator Noah M. Mason, now a candidate for Congress in your district, has been one of the strong supporters of the legislative program of the Illinois Agricultural Association during the six years he has been a member of the Illinois State Senate. He has battled shoulder to shoulder with the rest of us who have had the interests of the farmers at heart. He has sat in on many conferences with Earl Smith, John Watson and myself, giving valuable counsel and advice. He has a real understanding of the farm situation and is sound in his thinking. The farmers of Illinois have no better friend than Senator Mason."

In 1946 - Earl Smith, former President of the Illinois Agricultural Association, expressed much the same sentiments concerning Mason's record in Congress on legislation affecting Agriculture.

MASON'S LABOR RECORD

During the first 14 years of his 17 years of legislative service - 6 years in the State Senate and 11 years in Congress - Mason received the endorsements of organized labor. During the last three years Mason has not received these endorsements because he voted for the Case Bill and for the Taft-Hartley Bill. The Congressman considered those bills necessary to protect the interests of the General Public. Mason, however, has better than a 90% batting average on all labor legislation that has come before him during his 17 years in legislative work. Even Babe Ruth can't claim a better batting average than that.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's missus finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion... ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportscasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins"... and lets it go at that!

Twenty-two ladies of St. Peter's Guild gathered in the home of Mrs. William Engleman, Tuesday afternoon, February 24th to help her celebrate her 62d birthday. Mrs. George Sangmeister arranged the affair and Mrs. Alvin Harnack assisted her in serving. The afternoon was spent in playing games, and prizes were won by Mrs. Joe Scott, Mrs. Fred Klepper, and Mrs. Annie Scheer. The ladies brought a lot of good things to eat, among them was a beautiful cake. Mrs. Sangmeister presented her with a corsage. She also received a number of nice gifts, and many beautiful cards. Mrs. Engleman was so happy and grateful for all the remembrances, especially since she has been a shut-in and bed ridden for many years.

OLD MAN RIVER STRIKES AGAIN . . . Heavy rains and thawing snows once more have brought Midwest rivers to the flood stage. Rivers in six states swept over their banks, inundating thousands of acres of farm lands and forcing the evacuation of an estimated 6,000 persons. In Shelbyville, Tenn., 150 families were made homeless when the Duck river spilled over into low portions of the town. Another small community (inset) was left entirely dependent upon the meager stock of supplies on hand as rising flood waters severed all highway access to other towns.

ON GUARD IN THE HOLY LAND . . . This heroically designed scene shows a group of Haganah youths on guard with their dogs at a defense post inside one of the Jewish settlements in the Negev, desert area in southern Palestine. They are compelled to keep constant watch to guard against Arab attacks and to keep Arabs from attacking outlying farms or sabotaging the reservoirs which are all-important, both to farming and to life itself in the great dry area. The intolerable condition in Palestine has been pointed up by the recommendation of the United Nations Palestine commission that the U. N. send a military force to Palestine to enforce the partition.

WELL, LOOK — GRAIN FROM RUSSIA . . . British dock workers plunge their hands lovingly into grain which arrived at London's central granary aboard Russian liberty ship Baku. It was first shipment of grain from the USSR to England under an exchange agreement whereby Russia will get heavy machinery from Britain. The pact was made to increase British exports.

JUST ONE 'S', THAT IS . . . Sen. James O. Eastland (Dem., Miss.) and his secretary, Mrs. Jean Allen, point with pride to a reproduction of the misspelled Mississippi commemorative three-cent stamp. The forthcoming stamp, marking the 150th anniversary of Mississippi's admission as a territory, spells it "Mississippi," as it appears on the state's official territorial seal.

MAROONED . . . Buffeted by a screaming gale, this frail looking helicopter dropped food supplies to three keepers of the light off Wolf Rock, England, after they had been marooned 26 days.

TWO-MEDAL GIRL . . . Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, Vancouver, Wash., housewife, holds two medals she won in skiing events at winter Olympics in Switzerland. One is gold medal for first place in the women's special slalom event.

PORPOISE POISE POISONIFIED . . . Down yonder in the tropical waters of the marine gardens at Islamorada, Florida keys, the peripatetic porpoises do everything except get down on one knee and sing "Mammy." Any porpoise lover would find his manifest destiny here at the "Theater of the Sea," new marine studio in which all the marine life lives not in confining tanks but in natural pools.

THE MEMORIES HE HAS . . . Charles E. Taylor of Los Angeles, who was left $800 a year for life by Orville Wright, holds book of the Wright brothers and recalls thrilling days when he assisted in the building of the first airplane engine the brothers used in 1903 at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in their epochal flight. Ill of a serious heart ailment, Taylor, when told of the bequest, said he was "grateful to Orville."

'AND ALL I ASK IS A TALL SHIP' . . . Swift and graceful as it cuts the waters off Miami Beach, the "Cyclone," Cuba's entry in this year's Lipton cup race, inevitably calls to mind the memory of Sir Thomas Lipton. Except for his tea, the amateur yachtsman asked for little but "a tall ship and a star to steer her by." Sometimes called the world's greatest sportsman, Lipton spent millions over a period of many years in an attempt to bring the yachting title to England.

WHAT, NO PIN BOY? . . . If this favored land holds another three-generation family of bowlers the Rockrohr clan of Clinton, Iowa, would like to arrange a match. Above are (left to right): Grandfather Otto, 78; Father Le Roy, 52, and Son Le Roy Jr., 23. Grandpa Rockrohr began bowling back in 1910, and despite his advanced age he still maintains a neat average of 152 that many a young duffer can envy.

This Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Is Most Effective

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving because it gives you about four times as much for your money. Never spoils. Tastes fine. This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough relief. Swiftly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for quick and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Pinex Is Dependable!

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

A WOMAN'S PLACE

By JOHN T. CAVANAUGH

"SO, SALUSTRI is back," Managing Editor Pepper Drislane exclaimed as he clicked down the receiver. Excitedly, Police Chief Lawton had just shouted into the telephone, "This guy is looking for blood—don't take any unnecessary risks."

In the editorial room of the Hartfield Herald, Drislane sat with his head in his hands and mournfully looked over his city staff—two old men and seven girls. "Thirty years in newspapers and this has to happen to me—a chance to make headline history and here I am saddled with a bunch of sob sisters."

The Salustri case had been spectacular from the start. The self-styled big shot of the numbers racket had challenged repeatedly: "There ain't nobody going to pin a rap on me. This gazabo's got protection all the way to the state house and back and don't forget it."

But Jerry Cowan, erstwhile rectorial star of the Herald, and Managing Editor Drislane chose to forget it to the tune of pinning a 20-year federal sentence on the numbers king. Then the slipup; while waiting for the train that would carry him to prison, Salustri outwitted the guards, slugged the marshal and was on his way.

With the news of his escape, Jerry and Drislane knew Salustri would be back. The Herald's constant and merciless headlines had galled the gangster, bored right into his pride. "Sure, he'll be back," the reporter told his editor, "and when he does, he'll head for our office first."

That was two years ago. Now Jerry was on assignment in the Pacific. Meanwhile, the managing editor waited. Of course, he was jumpy; who wouldn't be when each corner might turn into a hail of hot lead? And now the chief of police had passed the word that Salustri had been spotted in Bayside, just 11 miles this side of Hartfield.

The managing editor was dismally fingering the last cigarette in his squashed pack when Publisher Jim Geldhorn came into the room. Drislane blinked his eyes and dropped the cigarette—doggone, if it wasn't another girl. Attractive and well built, but still another girl.

Geldhorn hustled the young woman over to an empty desk and hurriedly left.

"On a newspaper a girl reporter isn't worth the powder it takes to—camouflage her nose," Drislane had exploded when the publisher unobtrusively attempted to install the last girl on the city staff.

"All I hear these days is 'I've got an appointment with the hairdresser, the dressmaker, the butcher, the baker—' These girls have an appointment with everyone but me and their work," he ranted. "Is this a newspaper office or a sorority house?"

"Chief," said thin-pated, fiftyish Mike Bales, the paper's only bachelor, coming up to the managing editor's desk, "I'm going to hop down to Nick's for a shave." Generally Mike shaved every second day and today was a first.

"Darn," muttered Drislane, "we're off again and it'll take another three weeks to see who is really queen bee of this hive."

The managing editor's head was poked under his desk in search of his lost cigarette when a pair of shapely legs approached.

"Mr. Drislane," he heard a feminine voice say, "I'd like to be assigned to the Salustri case."

Abruptly, a hush fell over the Herald editorial room and light expectant reportorial heads poised over their typewriters as the managing editor took several seconds to come up from under his desk.

In the face of the gathering editorial clouds, the new girl bravely continued with her request and began to fumble with a gold locket which was looped around her neck. "The picture I have from Jerry—" she offered but got no further.

The thunder broke loose and Drislane hissed, his face purple. "On a newspaper, a woman!"—he didn't finish but resignedly collapsed in his chair.

With effort he continued feebly, "Miss Whatever-your-name-is, go get a manicure—get a cup of coffee escape from the United States Marshal's office in 1943, was recognized by the reporter as she walked through the barber shop to the beauty salon at the rear of the building. Miss Hewes, upon seeing Salustri, continued through the shop and left by a rear exit and soon returned with a squad of police officers.

"The reporter said that she had identified the gangster through his picture which she had carried in a gold locket given to her by her fiancé, Jerry Cowan, formerly police reporter on The Herald and now on assignment in the South Pacific. "Having threatened the life of my fiancé, Salustri was a potential —get anything. But for right now, just get."

As the girl hastily traced Mike Bales' rapidly retreating footsteps, Drislane sighed, "Even Jerry Cowan away out in the Pacific is getting balmy. On top of all this, imagine his wanting to saddle me with his fiancée, some up-country jane who probably doesn't know a dateline from a clothesline." Gleefully, he pictured himself setting up ambush for the next time the publisher came in with another girl.

After an hour of planting imaginary booby traps all over the newspaper plant, the managing editor had mentally destroyed the publisher and all the girls on the staff a dozen times over. Just when he was halfway through his masterpiece of stuffing Geldhorn and the girls through the news press to be delivered as supplements to the 5 o'clock edition, Mike Bales with a face full of lather tore into the room.

"Chief, Chief," the reporter panted, "they just got him."

"Just got who—when—where?" Drislane roared.

"Salustri, at the barber shop," said Mike, furiously shoving a piece of copy paper into his typewriter. "I'll have the story written for the last edition in a jiffy."

DOWNSTAIRS the presses were silent and waiting as the managing editor's pencil poised over the reporter's scoop.

"Nat Salustri, former numbers czar who escaped local police two years ago, today was captured in Nick's barber and beauty shop on Main Street through the efforts of Miss Loretta Hewes, a member of The Herald's editorial staff," the story read.

"The gangster, who has hidden from the police since his spectacular threat to my coming marriage, so I carried his picture, knowing that I would run into him some day," Miss Hewes said. "Now that he is captured, I know that I can plan to marry Jerry as soon as he returns."

Speechless, the managing editor scanned the copy. Then, poised his pencil, he added to the message: "In the meantime, I will continue working at The Herald as police reporter."

TOWBOAT PILOT

By Elston J. Melton

(Caxton Printers . . . $4)
By Lyn Connelly.

Here at last is an intelligently written book for adolescent boys, one of the best of its kind since the immortal Mark Twain penned that perennial favorite, "Tom Sawyer."

Tom Briggs is essentially a good boy, but because he takes precious time away from his daily chores to swim with his chum, Johnny Sanders, and because he dreams constantly of the day when he might be a towboat pilot on the mighty Gasconade river, he is considered lazy and shiftless by his cruel stepfather and many of the town citizens.

You'll share Tom's frustration when, after he works hard to buy himself a small boat so that he can fish to support his family, his stepfather sells the boat and pockets the money. You'll share his horror when his hunting rifle goes off accidentally in the post office and he is accused by Mr. Pugh, the postmaster, of having deliberately attempted to kill him.

Despite his many handicaps, Tom proves through sheer perseverance and courage that he is capable of being a towboat captain. The story carries him from the age of 12 when he is in the dream stage, through the age of 21, when he makes his first cruise as a pilot. But long before the realization of his ambition, he earns the respect of his neighbors when he clears Mr. Pugh of a possible murder charge of which only Tom knows he is innocent, thus proving that he holds no malice in his heart for the postmaster who would have sent Tom to a juvenile home when he, too, was wrongly accused of a crime.

The book is a joy for those loving the great outdoors. Mr. Melton, a prominent Missouri newspaper man, knows his subject well and handles it beautifully with the result that there emerges a book full of tears and joy, tenderness and adventure.

New Uranium Discoveries

Show Wide Distribution

The world is expanding its known sources of uranium, vital mineral of the Atomic Age.

Both newly independent Burma and the Union of South Africa have announced the discovery of extensive uranium deposits, National Geographic society notes. These latest finds are further evidence that the atomic-energy ore is much more widely distributed around the globe than popularly believed.

Prospecting for uranium lodes is much simpler than searching for gold. The uranium can be detected easily by a scientific "divining rod." Radioactive by nature, the mineral literally broadcasts its whereabouts in the ground. Forty years ago Hans Geiger, a German scientist, invented the instrument which hunts out the hidden ore.
